Science and Technology

Humankind has the science and technology to destroy itself or to provide prosperity for all. But while Science offers us these opportunities, Science will not make that choice for us. Only the moral power of a world acting as a community can" ~ Margaret Beckett.

It is hard to imagine our life now without science and technology. Very true! but it's also time to ask ourselves 'what choice we wish to make for ourselves- to use science and technology for prosperity and peace or for destruction'?

At Sanskriti Kids we firmly believe that technology can help students to understand Science and make ideas that were previously restricted to the pages of books, a visible or tangible reality. We aim to make best use of technology to facilitate digital literacy, critical thinking and problem-solving by encouraging research based projects and presentations, which will help them to succeed in life. We also understand that technology undoubtedly makes the learning process more interactive and interesting.

It is our responsibility to inculcate that wisdom in our children which will help them dominate and control the technology rather than becoming slaves of the same.

Let's all come together in our mission towards creating an equipoise generation, capable of balancing science & technology with ethics...
