DOCTOR'S DAY

At Sanskriti Kids, we celebrated National Doctor's Day with enthusiasm and gratitude, recognizing the invaluable contributions of medical professionals. Our event was graced by esteemed chief guests, Dr. Keerthi Goverdhanam and Dr. Rajgopal Acharya, who shared insightful highlights on the importance of doctors in our society. They emphasized the dedication and compassion required in the medical field, underscoring how doctors play a crucial role in maintaining public health and well-being. The celebration not only honored the tireless efforts of doctors but also inspired the young minds at Sanskriti Kids to appreciate and perhaps aspire to join this noble profession in the future. In addition to this, we commenced Haritha Haram Week with a tree-planting activity.

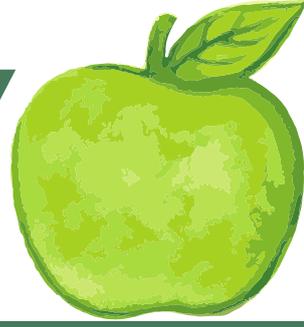

HARITHA HARAM

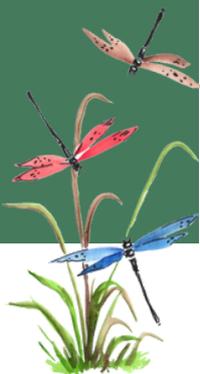

Haritha Haram, celebrated at Sanskriti Kids, was an event dedicated to promoting environmental awareness and the importance of greenery. Esteemed chief guests from Dha3R NGO, including Mr. Manoj and Mr. Praneeth, along with Ms. Navya and Mr. Narsimha Rao, graced the occasion with their presence and support. Their involvement highlighted the growing importance of community collaboration in environmental initiatives. Various workshops and interactive sessions were organized to educate attendees about the benefits of plants and the role everyone can play in conserving the environment. This comprehensive approach made sure the event was not only enjoyable but also educational, leaving a lasting impression. At school, we learn about the importance of plantations in maintaining ecological balance and fighting climate change. By increasing forest cover, they boost biodiversity, reduce air pollution, and provide natural habitats for wildlife. Plantations are vital for capturing carbon dioxide, regulating temperatures, and ensuring a healthier planet for future generations. These efforts not only improve the environment but also inspire a collective commitment toward creating a sustainable future.

GREEN COLOUR DAY

Celebrating Colour Day, such as Green Colour Day at Sanskriti Kids, holds significant importance for pre-primary children. It is an engaging way to introduce young learners to the vibrant world of colours, which is crucial for their cognitive development. Through activities centered around a specific colour, children enhance their vocabulary, learn colour recognition, and develop their observational skills. It also fosters creativity, as children are encouraged to express themselves through art and crafts. Additionally, Colour Day promotes social interaction and teamwork, as kids participate in group activities and share their creations. Such celebrations make learning a joyful experience, laying the foundation for a lifelong enthusiasm for education.

PLANTATION DRIVE

A plantation drive at Sanskriti Kids is an inspiring initiative aimed at instilling environmental consciousness among young minds. By involving children in the process of planting trees, this activity not only educates them about the importance of greenery and biodiversity but also fosters a sense of responsibility towards nature. During the drive, children participate in selecting, planting, and nurturing saplings, learning firsthand about the growth process and the benefits trees provide to our ecosystem. Such experiences are invaluable, as they empower the next generation to become proactive stewards of the environment. The plantation drive at Sanskriti Kids is a wonderful step towards a greener future, cultivating both plants and young environmental advocates.

BE SAFE - GOOD TOUCH BAD TOUCH

The "Good Touch Bad Touch" activity conducted at Sanskriti Kids is a crucial educational initiative aimed at equipping young children with the understanding and skills needed to recognize and respond to inappropriate physical contact. Educating children about the difference between good and bad touch at an early age is vital for their safety and well-being. By introducing these concepts in a safe and supportive environment, children learn to trust their instincts, communicate discomfort, and seek help from trusted adults. This early education fosters a sense of bodily autonomy and empowers children to protect themselves from potential abuse. Moreover, it opens up a dialogue between children, parents, and teachers, creating a community of awareness and support. Overall, such activities play an essential role in nurturing confident, informed, and resilient individuals.

DRAWING COMPETITION

The drawing competition organized at Sanskriti Kids promises to be an exciting event, offering young artists a platform to showcase their creativity and talent. Participants have the opportunity to explore a range of meaningful and inspiring themes such as “Unity in Diversity,” which encourages them to depict the harmonious coexistence of different cultures and communities in India. Another theme is “National Symbols,” where children can express their understanding and appreciation of the symbols that represent the nation’s identity and heritage. The theme “Swachh Bharat” invites participants to illustrate the importance of cleanliness and environmental responsibility, aligning with the national campaign for a cleaner India. Finally, the theme “My Favourite Freedom Fighter” offers a chance for kids to pay tribute to the heroes of India’s independence movement, showcasing their courage and dedication through art. This competition not only nurtures artistic skills but also instills a sense of national pride and awareness among young minds.

COLOURING COMPETITION

A colouring competition was a delightful experience for pre-primary kids, sparking their creativity and imagination while enhancing their fine motor skills. Organizing such an event involved selecting themes that were engaging and age-appropriate, such as animals, nature, or favorite storybook characters. Providing a variety of colouring materials, like crayons, coloured pencils, and markers, further enriched the experience. The competition not only encouraged artistic expression but also fostered a sense of accomplishment and confidence as the children proudly showcased their vibrant creations. Additionally, it offered an opportunity for social interaction, as kids shared ideas and learned from one another in a fun and supportive environment. Celebrating their efforts with small awards or certificates made the event memorable and inspired a lifelong love for art.

SPIN A YARN COMPETITION

STORY TIME

Once upon a time, in the quaint town of Storyville, an annual event captured the imagination of its residents: the Spin a Yarn Storytelling Competition. Storytellers from all walks of life gathered under the sprawling oak tree in the town square, each eager to weave their tales and captivate the audience with their creativity and flair.

This year, the competition promised to be exceptional, with participants ranging from young children to seasoned elders. Among them was young Ella, a shy but imaginative girl whose stories always bubbled with magic and wonder. On the day of the event, her nervousness was palpable, yet her determination to share her tale of enchanted forests and talking animals gave her the courage to stand before the crowd.

ಬೆನಾಲ ಜಾತರ

BONALU CELEBRATIONS

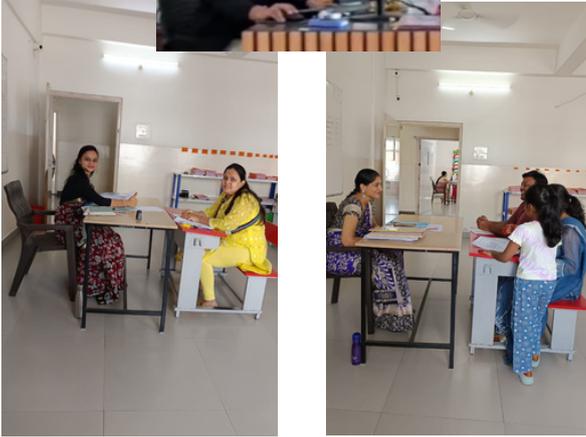

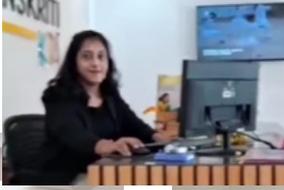

The Bonalu festival celebrated at Sanskriti Kids was a vibrant and enriching experience for the children. Bonalu, a traditional Hindu festival from the state of Telangana, was dedicated to the Goddess Mahakali. It was characterized by a plethora of colorful rituals, music, and dance. At Sanskriti Kids, the festival was an opportunity to introduce young minds to the rich cultural heritage of India. Children participated in activities such as , learning folk dances, or listening to stories about the festival's origins and significance. Such celebrations not only educated children about diverse traditions but also fostered a sense of unity and joy within the community.

PARENTS TEACHER MEETING

P T M

The recent parent-teacher meeting at Sanskriti Kids was a valuable opportunity for parents and teachers to collaborate closely on the educational journey of the students. Scheduled with the main aim of providing feedback on Periodic Assessment 1, this meeting allowed parents to gain insight into their children's academic performance and areas of strength or improvement. Teachers were available to discuss the progress of each child, addressing any concerns and setting goals to enhance learning outcomes. This interaction not only helped in building a supportive educational environment but also strengthened the partnership between parents and educators, fostering a holistic approach to student development.

LITTLE CHEF ACTIVITY

In a delightful little chef activity at Sanskriti Kids, young participants engaged in creating a nutritious sprouts chaat with the guidance of their teacher. This hands-on experience was not only a fun culinary adventure but also an educational opportunity that highlighted the importance of healthy eating. As the children mixed together vibrant sprouts, tangy lemon juice, and a dash of spices, they learned about the benefits of incorporating fresh, wholesome ingredients into their diets. The activity also encouraged sharing and teamwork, as the kids eagerly exchanged tips and tasted each other's creations. Through this engaging culinary session, the little chefs gained valuable lessons in nutrition, cooperation, and the joy of sharing healthy food with friends.

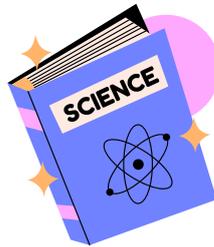

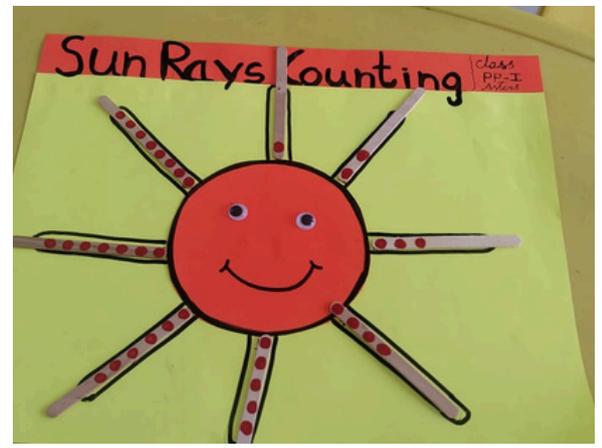

CCA SPORTS

Collecting cones was a fun and engaging sports activity often conducted at Sanskriti Kids to develop children's motor skills, coordination, and teamwork. In this activity, children were usually divided into teams, and a set of cones was spread out across a designated area. The objective was for each team to collect as many cones as possible within a given time frame. This activity not only encouraged physical exercise but also fostered a sense of competition and cooperation among the children. It was a great way to enhance their agility and strategic thinking as they planned the most efficient way to gather the cones. Furthermore, such activities were instrumental in teaching kids the importance of working together towards a common goal, all while having fun.

ACTIVITIES

At Sanskriti Kids, the curriculum is designed to immerse young learners in activity-based learning, providing hands-on experiences that engage and educate. In mathematics, children explore subtraction using colorful pencils, transforming abstract concepts into tangible and enjoyable activities. This approach not only helps in visualizing subtraction but also enhances fine motor skills. Science projects at Sanskriti Kids ignite curiosity and foster experimentation, enabling children to explore their surroundings through simple, age-appropriate experiments. Similarly, Environmental Studies (EVS) projects nurture an understanding of the environment, fostering awareness and responsibility from an early age. For pre-primary students, an engaging "dot on stick" activity aids in number learning, helping develop counting skills and number recognition in an interactive and enjoyable manner. These methods ensure that children build a strong foundation in essential skills while cultivating a love for learning.

INTERNATIONAL TIGER'S

DAY

International Tiger Day, celebrated on July 29th, was enthusiastically embraced by the young minds at Sanskriti Kids. The event aimed to raise awareness about tiger conservation and the plight of these majestic creatures, whose numbers have dwindled alarmingly. At Sanskriti Kids, the day was marked with a variety of engaging activities designed to educate and inspire children about the importance of preserving wildlife. Students participated in art and craft sessions, creating tiger masks and posters, and enjoyed storytelling sessions that highlighted the role of tigers in maintaining ecological balance. The celebration not only fostered a sense of responsibility among the children towards environmental protection but also instilled a deep appreciation for biodiversity. Through these activities, Sanskriti Kids contributed to the global effort to safeguard a future where tigers can thrive in their natural habitats.

AD ARCHITECT COMPETITION

Organizing an ad architect competition for students in grades 1 to 5 at Sanskriti Kids encouraged creativity, innovation, and critical thinking. By allowing children to create advertisements for products, brands, or innovative ideas, we helped them develop a range of skills, including marketing, communication, and design. This activity not only fostered imagination but also helped them understand the basics of advertising and the importance of capturing an audience's attention. Such competitions inspired young minds to think outside the box and express their ideas in unique ways, potentially sparking an interest in fields like marketing, design, or entrepreneurship. It was a great way to combine learning with fun and creativity!

BAGLESS DAY

A "Bagless Day" is a unique initiative aimed at breaking the monotony of traditional classroom learning by allowing students to explore and engage in a variety of interactive activities without their usual books and assignments. At Sanskriti School, the Bagless Day was a vibrant tapestry of activities designed to stimulate creativity, physical fitness, and cognitive skills among students. Activities included energetic Zumba sessions that encouraged physical movement and dance expression, indoor sports that promoted teamwork and strategy, and arts and crafts that nurtured creativity and fine motor skills. Additionally, students participated in quizzes that challenged their knowledge and quick thinking. This day not only provided a refreshing break from conventional learning but also highlighted the importance of holistic education that encompasses physical, artistic, and intellectual development. By encouraging students to learn through play and exploration, Bagless Day underscores the value of experiential learning and helps foster a lifelong love for learning.

RANGOTSAV COMPETITION

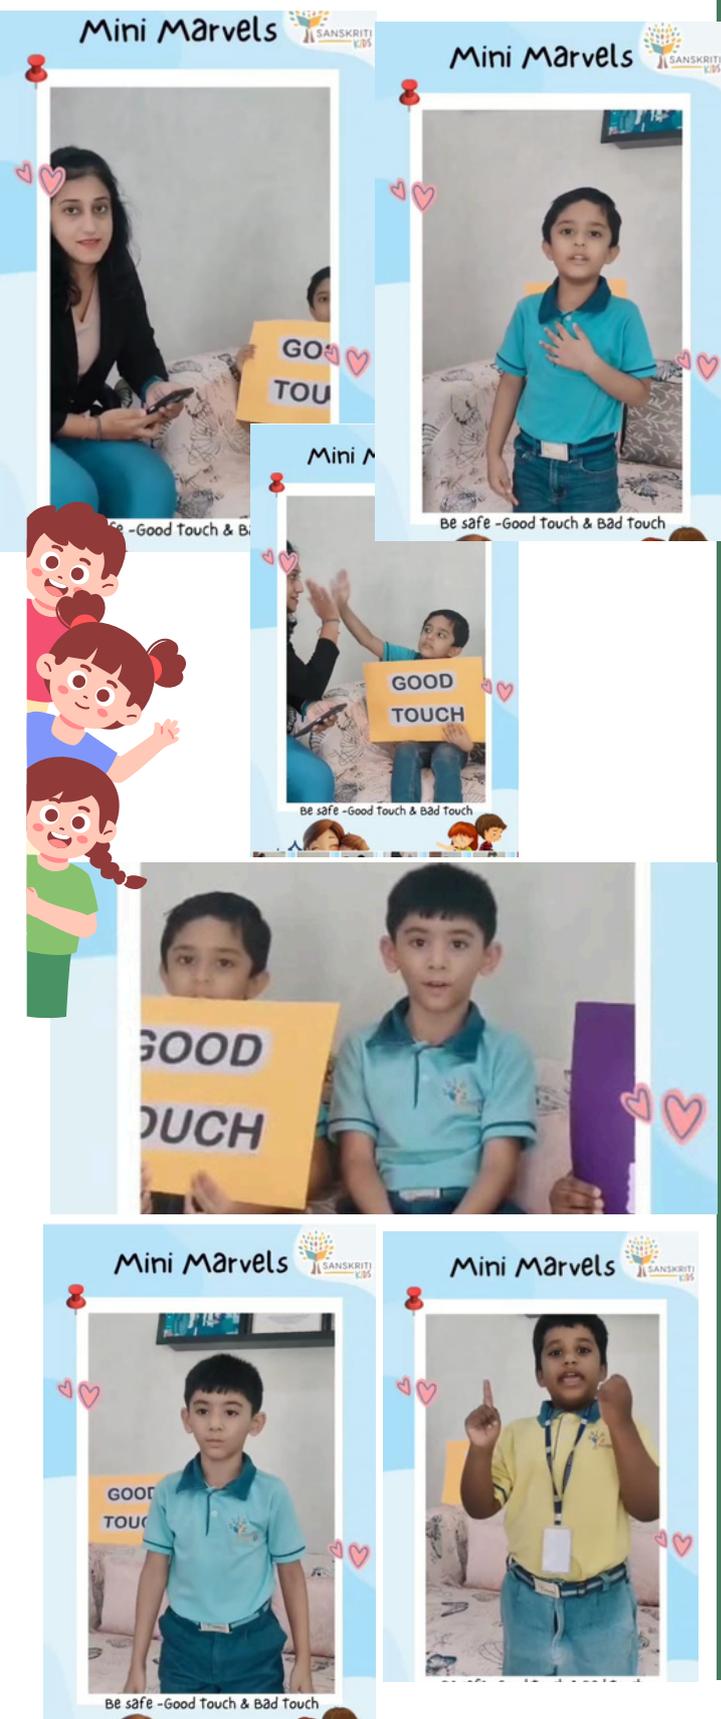

The Rangotsav competition at Sanskriti Kids was a vibrant celebration of creativity and expression, bringing together a variety of artistic categories that captivated the young participants. Students eagerly engaged in activities such as colouring, sketching, finger and thumb printing, cartoon making, and caricature drawing, each showcasing their unique talents. Additionally, a handwriting competition allowed participants to demonstrate their penmanship skills, emphasizing the importance of neat and effective communication. This diverse array of categories not only encouraged artistic development but also fostered a sense of camaraderie and healthy competition among the children. The event served as a wonderful platform for young artists to explore their creativity and gain confidence in their abilities, all while having fun and learning from one another.

MINI MARVELS

STAY SAFE

An incredibly important and meaningful conversation to have on a mini marvel chat show with young kids involved discussing the concepts of good touch and bad touch, helping children understand the boundaries of their personal space and empowering them to protect themselves. During such discussions, it was crucial to use age-appropriate language and examples so that children could easily grasp the concepts. Explaining that a good touch was one that made them feel safe and happy, like a hug from a family member, whereas a bad touch made them uncomfortable or scared, was a good starting point. Encouraging kids to trust their instincts and speak up to a trusted adult if they ever felt uncomfortable was key in teaching them to keep themselves safe. Such conversations not only educated children but also fostered an environment of trust and communication, ensuring they knew that their feelings were valid and that they had a right to protect their own bodies.
